A WORD IN SEASON.

The Corn Song.

Heap high the farmer's wintry hoard!

Heap high the golden corn!
No richer gift has autumn poured
From out her lavish horn!

Let other lands, exulting, glean
The apple from the pine,
The orange from its glossy green,
The cluster from its vine.

We better love the hearty gift
Our rugged vales bestow,
To cheer us when the storm shall drift
Our harvest fields with snow.

Through vales of grass and meads
Of flowers.

Our ploughs their furrows made,
While on the hills the sun and showers

Of changeful April played.

We drop the seed o'er hill and plain,
Beneath the sun of May,
And frighten from our sprouting grain
The robber crows away.

All through the long, bright days of June

Its leaves grew green and fair,
And waved in hot summer's noon
Its soft and yellow hair.

And now, with autumn's moonlit eyes,

Its harvest time has come,
We pluck away the frosted leaves,
And bear the treasure home.

There, richer than the fabled gift
Apollo showered of old,
Fair hands the broken grain shall sift,
And knead its meal of gold

Let vapid idlers loll in silk
Around their costly board;
Give us the bowl of samp and milk,
By homespun beauty poured!

Where'er the wide old kitchen hearth
Sends up its smoky curls,
Who will not thank the kindly earth,
And bless our farmer girls?

Then shame on all the proud and vain,

Whose folly laughs to scorn
The blessing of our hardy grain,
Our wealth of golden corn!

Let earth withhold her goodly root,
Let mildew blight the rye,
Give to the worm the orchard's fruit,
The wheat-field to the fly.

But let the good old cross adorn
The hills our fathers trod;
Still let us, for his golden corn,
Send up our praise to God!
—John G. Whittier.

No series which has appeared in any magazine is more interesting than that which the Cosmopolitan is publishing under the title "Captains of Industry." The names of the men included in this series are not only constantly appearing in the news of the day, but their lives almost always illustrate the development of an entire art or industry. Take, for instance, those included in the November number. From Chaldean clay tablets to the movable types of Gutenberg lies a period of ten thousand years. From Gutenberg to Robert Hoe the gap in processes and results is quite as broad, though in time it is only five centuries long. The scribe of Nippur probably produced one tablet an hour. Gutenberg may have finished one sheet a minute. Hoe prints with his machine a strip of paper three feet wide on both sides at the rate of one hundred and twenty miles an hour. The life of the late W. S. Stratton, incidentally, is interwoven with the mining development of the middle West; that of James R. Keene illustrates the highest development of the Wall Street speculator; that of Tom L. Johnson casts interesting side-lights on political conditions in Ohio; while the life of Ferdinand W. Roebing cannot be written without a thorough knowledge of the wonderful evolution of modern bridge-building.

The Christmas (December) number of The Delineator is also the Thirtieth Anniversary number. To do justice to this number, which for beauty and utility touches the highest mark, it would be necessary to print the entire list of contents. It is sufficient to state that in it the best modern writers and artists are generously represented. The book contains over 230 pages, with 34 full-page illustrations, of which 20 are in two or more colors. The magnitude of this December number, for which 728 tons of paper and six tons of ink have been used, may be understood from the fact that 91 presses running 14 hours a day have been required to print it; the binding alone of the edition of 915,000 copies representing over 20,000,000 sections which had to be gathered individually by human hands.
